The role of regions in the development of Knowledge Innovation Community on Raw Materials

Lazio Region presents the main goals and the development program of the Southern Co-location Centre, one of the nodes of the pan-European Knowledge Innovation Community "EIT RawMaterials", which gathers around these issues 115 partners from 22 European countries.

"EIT RawMaterials" is an extraordinary opportunity to create new jobs, new skills and to launch industrial initiatives in support of the European manufacturing industry, facing supply risks for several "raw materials".

Lazio will host one of the six Co-Location Centres of EIT RawMaterials, located at ENEA Casaccia Research Centre in the neighbourhood of Rome. It will act as the real national and international multiplier of innovation strategies also for Lazio Region, in the field of Industrial Production, Eco Design and Circular Economy.
