CATALOGUE OF NEW PUBLISHING INITIATIVES OF LAZIO REGION
4TH EDITION
Lazio is a land of culture, creativity and knowledge that deserves to be nurtured and supported. The “Catalogue of the new publications of Lazio Region” was created with the aim of promoting one of the most precious elements of our cultural industry: publishing houses in Lazio account for 17% of the national total amount and they make up a fundamental reservoir of creative energies. We concretely support such a patrimony of enterprises and the “world of books” in general. For years we have invested public resources on initiatives to encourage people, especially the youngsters, to read; we boost the small and medium-sized publishing enterprises; we enhance the best talents by helping them find publishers and increasing the opportunities to work their way into the Italian and international market.

Therefore, in this new edition of the “Catalogue of the new publications of Lazio Region” there is a varied and dynamic universe, made up of brave publishers, who managed to modernize and invest on quality, and a wide range of talents that have the world at their disposal.

Lazio Region invests on the strength of culture, on the power of books and on the vitality of the small and medium-sized publishing enterprises. Ours is a clear and decisive choice: the publishing industry has a very high economic value but it also is a cultural instrument that is fundamental for our citizens to grow, to become more sensitive and to develop their critical thinking other than for building communication bridges with other European and global realities. That is why we will always stand by our publishers and writers, with the enthusiasm and the awareness of those who have a lot to show.

NICOLA ZINGARETTI
President of Lazio
There are almost 300 active publishing houses in Lazio, which account for 17% of the national total amount, and 10 thousand printed titles for a total of 11.3 million copies: these are the data provided by the Italian Publishers Association about the universe of small and medium-sized regional enterprises.

Such numbers are proof of the strength and dynamism of a sector that not only is a fundamental part of a continuously growing business and production sector, but is also and above all a “service” aimed at citizens, a tool that fosters free information, the circulation of ideas and the social and cultural growth of our community.

Lazio Region supports the small and medium-sized enterprises that promote culture. We want to support them at local and, most importantly, national and international level. From the Frankfurt Buchmesse (40 publishing houses in the Lazio stand in 2019, 38 in 2018) to the Angouleme International Comics Festival, from the Turin International Book Fair to the Rome Book Fair “Più Libri, Più Liberi”.

There is more. We put into practice a specific program aimed at supporting the internationalization of our publishing sector through grants and incentives for small and medium-sized cultural enterprises of Rome and Lazio to support publications and publishing projects in reaching foreign markets. Lazio Region is also strongly committed to digitalization, which allowed enterprises to modernize their production processes, for an increasingly technological and modern publishing production.

Specific actions, therefore, to support a sector that is the flagship of Lazio and to grant the talent, ideas and cultural projects of our region the opportunity to become successful stories and books.

DANIELE LEODORI
Vice-President of Lazio
For the fourth consecutive year, Lazio Region has decided to support the translation of works submitted by small and medium-sized publishers from Lazio through the instrument of the fourth edition of the “Catalogue of new publishing initiatives of Lazio Region”. In this publication you will find the publishing houses that have participated in this initiative, as well as the titles of the works they have translated for this purpose. Translations are also available at traduzioni.laziointernational.it

With this instrument, Lazio Region wants to reinforce the ability of Lazio publishers to scout for new talent and best sellers to launch on the Italian and international scene, an ability that has given important results in recent years. At the same time, the instrument aims at supporting small and medium sized enterprises belonging to a productive sector that is vital to the regional economy and to the promotion of the history and tradition of Lazio in Italy and abroad. The fourth edition of the “Catalogue of new publishing initiatives of Lazio Region” comprises 17 small and medium-sized publishing houses based in Rome and Lazio, who have submitted 70 titles for translation, all of which are currently unreleased on international markets. The translated titles included in the catalogue cover a broad range of editorial products, among which non-fiction, comics, science fiction, essays to biographies, thrillers and noir, all ready to be bought and sold on foreign markets.
66thand2nd
66thand2nd is the short indication of the intersection between 66th street and the Second Avenue in Manhattan. We aim at paying a tribute of honour to the spot that has given us strength and inspiration to create our publishing company. The five book series composing our publishing project are the expressions of our vision of the world and of life: ‘Attese’ [Expectations] dedicated to sports and ‘Bazar’ a mirror on the melting pot which is literature; ‘B-polar’ which is something between a crime novel and noir stories, and ‘Vite inattese’ [Unsuspected Life Changers] consisting of biopics and narratives from memorable characters in the sports world.

Intrecci Edizioni

Intrecci Edizioni is a young publishing company founded in 2015, aiming at using any characteristics of digital publishing in order to prove to both authors and readers that this new form of publishing isn’t just a winning strategy, but also a tool that can be developed into many thousand different strategies for publishing. From promotional to communication campaigns, it offers a chance to customize marketing for every single book. We are very careful to the developments of an ever receptive publishing market: what we, though, cherish the most is to listen at anything our readers have to comment about our choices for selecting new authors, new books to better meet their taste. Our catalogue displays three book series that have been constantly growing through the years, in both volume and quality: ‘Enne di Intrecci’ our series about fiction, ‘Esse di Intrecci’ our series about essays, and ‘Emme di Intrecci’ our series of manuals.

Lapis Edizioni

Lapis is an independent publishing company for children and teenagers. Its publishing production ranges from picture books to fiction, from game books to the dissemination of scientific knowledge, from manuals to guides and many of its books has been awarded with major national and international prizes. Lapis has consolidated tight relations with many international publishers through the years, bringing into its catalogue some prominent foreign books that have helped its growth and fame on the markets. To this end, the release of major illustrated books and cardboard books to foreign publishers have been equally relevant.

MINIMUM FAX
Established in 1994, minimum fax is, proudly, still completely independent, and it’s now considered a classic example of a successful small press and an undisputed presence in the Italian publishing market. In 2019 Luca Briasco joined Daniele di Gennaro in the ownership of the company. The structure has increased (12 people are currently employed) and the production is now of 40 titles per year. We have been building a strong catalogue of young writers and contemporary classics both from the United States and Italy. We also have five non-fiction series: literary non-fiction, current affairs/politics/reportages, a series completely dedicated to film theory, one to music and one to television.

Spazio Interiore
Spazio Interiore is a project aimed at the diffusion of knowledge and research about man and his visible and invisible worlds, born from a concept by Giovanni Picozza in 2010, as a stimulus to everyone in search of himself and of new territories to explore.

Spazio Interiore originates from the desire to make manifest in Italy a sense of openness and significance than in other places in the world characterize the most advanced academic and scientific operations. These include studies on non-ordinary levels of conscience, on the roots of western culture, on emergence of spirituality, on holistic techniques, on psychotropic substances, on the art of narration and everything else that has to do with the full and authentic blossoming of the human being.

Voland
Voland publishing house was started in 1995 by Daniela Di Sora and takes its name from the character of the Devil in Bulgakov’s novel The Master and Margarita. Since its foundation, it has been focusing on the literature of Eastern Europe, but gradually spread its interest over other areas such as Portugal, Spain, France and many others. Our challenge is to publish unknown writers (never translated into Italian) belonging to rich literary traditions, but never forgetting Eastern Europe. Our catalogue features 250 titles, divided into 7 series: Intrecci, Sirin, Confini, Amazzoni, Finestre, Sirin Classica and the Supereconomici.
